SCIO HAPPY AS PLANT REOPENS

It's a Great Day as Burned Out Pottery Gets Under Way Again.

By The Associated Press

SCIO, O., Feb. 14—The 74-[illegible] of this tiny pottery village stood on a street corner and proudly surveyed the bustling community.

"Lyle Reese and his pottery [illegible] is back in town," said Mayor Charles S. Grace reflectively. "We are glad."

A small rain fell yesterday and the air was murky with fog. But there existed a happy gleam in the eyes of all Scio citizens lighted the place like a second sun.

Everywhere eyes wandered there were banners proclaiming the second birth of the Reese pottery, the town's sole industry. Once more production was being resumed six months after fire gutted the plant.

A pretty girl in a gay slicker, [illegible]-old Margaret Petacca, came along. Margaret finishes handles at the pottery.

"I wouldn't work anywhere else," she asserted.

It was about everybody felt that way. Not alone in words, either. Members of the $1,500,000 fire of last Dec. 11 still smoldered as townspeople rolled up their sleeves.

Everyone Helps

Tools were grabbed, hammers clanked as work got under way. A clergyman pushed a wheelbarrow. It was a stirring exhibition of civic unity. Union alone enabled Reese to rebuild a brand new [illegible] of 37,540 square feet in just [illegible] days.

Heir To Rockefeller Fortune Weds Daughter of Immigrants

By The Associated Press

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 14—Winthrop Rockefeller, heir to a fabulous fortune, was married in the first minutes of this St. Valentine's day to Mrs. Barbara Sears, daughter of Lithuanian immigrants.

The 35-year-old Rockefeller, and his pretty blond bride, 31, were married at 12:14 (EST).

Rev. Winslow S. Drummond, pastor of the West Palm Beach Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

The newlyweds planned to slip away later today for an undisclosed honeymoon spot.

The simple single ring ceremony was conducted against a floral backdrop in a room overlooking Lake Worth in the winter estate of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Guest, long time friends of the bride.

The ceremony was attended only by the bridal couple, Lawrence Rockefeller, brother of Winthrop, who was best man; Isabel Paul, sister of the bride who was maid of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Guest, Alexander L. Cochrane, Mrs. Guest's brother, and the minister.

After the vows were spoken, tall, good looking Rockefeller leaned over and kissed his vivacious five-foot, six-inch bride.

Windsors There

A reception before the wedding was attended by 50 guests who ranked among society's most noted figures and included the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, Count and Countess Jean De La Valdene, Mrs. Hudson Vanderbilt, Herbert Pulitzer and Mrs. Brenda Frazier Kelly.

One name, Joe Borney, which appeared by mistake on the select guest list later proved to be an accordion player hired to entertain the guests.

The bride wore a simple pink linen dress with matching shoes which she bought a week ago and called "something old." For "something borrowed" she carried a handkerchief loaned by Mrs. Guest. A blue orchid in the center of a spray of white orchids was the "something blue."

The wedding, which became a Valentine's day ceremony was originally planned for Friday the 13th. But a 72-hour waiting period required by Florida law forced a change in plans.

Immigrant Parents

In contrast with the wealth and social position the new Mrs. Rockefeller commands by virtue of her marriage she was born the daughter of humble Lithuanian immigrants in Pennsylvania. The family later moved to Chicago, where they lived back of the stockyards, and then Indiana where she attended high school. She was born Jievue Paulekiute and later changed her name to Eva Paul. She appeared in several stage plays, including "Tobacco Road." "You Can't Take It With You" and a number of motion pictures.

Her first husband was Richard Sears, a third secretary in the American embassy in Paris.

Rockefeller, often termed one of America's most "eligible" bachelors is an officer in the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. He entered the Army as a private during World War II and was discharged a lieutenant colonel. He was wounded at Okinawa.

The newlyweds first met about 18 months ago at a dinner given by Mrs. Elizabeth (Liz) Whitney

Cinderella Bride's Mother Happy At Wedding News

LOWELL, Ind., Feb. 14—"You be good to my Eva. She'll be good to you. She's a fine girl."

Those were the motherly words of advice spoken by Mrs. Eva Neveckas to her soon-to-be son-in-law, Winthrop Rockefeller, uttered earnestly in a long distance conversation yesterday between Lowell, Ind., and Palm Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Neveckas, a Lithuanian immigrant, seemed indifferent to the fact that young Rockefeller is a grandson of one of the world's few billionaires. Whether he were prince or pauper, mother Neveckas had only one thought in mind.

Even when Rockefeller pleaded with her to attend the Valentine day wedding in the Palm Beach mansion of Winston Guest, Mrs. Neveckas remained almost calm.

"Too Much To Do"

No, she couldn't. She and her husband, Pete, had so many chores to do on their 100-acre farm. She appreciated his offer to send a plane for her, but this was her simple demurrer.

"Thanks but I can't. Papa and I have too much to do."

With almost childlike eagerness, Mrs. Neveckas asked Eva—who was Barbara Paul Sears before her marriage to young Rockefeller—what she was going to wear at the wedding ceremony.

She asked a lot of questions—all in her native Lithuanian. But they were translated by a friend.

The call was from the nearby home of neighbors Arthur and Grace Claussen, farmers like the Neveckas.

For 55 minutes the conversation

FREEZE CHECKS RAPID RISE OF OHIO'S RIVERS

Many Homeless After Rains and Melting Snow Cause Flash Floods.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 14—A quick drop in temperatures accompanied by snow slowed or halted the rise of streams in Ohio today after hundreds of persons were made homeless by flash floods.

Gus Garner, 60, drowned in the Mohican Chagrin river near Willoughby in northern Ohio. He lived in a shack on the river bank.

The rise of the Ohio river at Cincinnati diminished to 3 foot an hour with the breaking of a huge ice gorge down stream at Rising Sun, Ind. The river stage this morning at Cincinnati was 36.3, about 15 feet below flood level.

At Dayton which was deluged with two inches of rain yesterday, residents of numerous low-lying areas began clearing up the debris left by a flash flood during the night.

200 Driven from Homes

Approximately 200 persons, driven from their homes in Floral Plat, a residential section near Wright Field, were cared for in the Dayton Power & Light Co. recreation center.

A Frigidaire plant at Moraine City reopened as backwater from overflowing streams receded. There was 12 inches of water in the administration building at one time during the night.

Some roads into Dayton still were blocked by water this morning, but most of the main highways were open. The flash floods nearly isolated the city to motorists during the night.

As snow began falling generally throughout the state, the weather bureau forecast a cold wave for tonight with temperatures falling to 5 or 10 degrees in the north portion and 10 to 15 degrees in the southern part of Ohio.

In contrast, the mean temperature in central Ohio yesterday was 44 degrees, 14 above normal.

Several Hospitalized

Authorities at Dayton hospitalized several elderly persons, children and expectant mothers suffering from exposure.

Five families fled their homes in Morrow and two others at South Lebanon moved ahead of rising water as the Little Miami spilled its banks.

Springfield reported scores of flooded basements, considerable street damage, flooding of low-level areas in Clark county and the threat of evacuation for families in the Snydersville section in the fork of Buck creek and Mad river.

All Roads in Marion County Reported Clear

Although high water has temporarily blocked traffic on three main state highways in nearby counties, all roads in Marion county are reported passable today by County Engineer Walter W. Johnson.

Day-long rains yesterday has put streams out of their banks, and over 35 highways in the state, the state patrol reported this morning.

Route 23 was blocked this morning in Wyandot county south of Upper Sandusky. Route 4 is closed north of Bucyrus and Route 30-S is blocked between Mansfield and Galion, the patrol said.

Swollen Rivers Overflow Banks, Two Tornadoes Strike in South

By The Associated Press

Rivers in four southern states swollen and impatient of confinement within normal channels welled over their banks in angry waves today, driving hundreds from their homes.

Even as the floods added to the south's woes, aggravated by weeks of rain, sleet and snow, Mississippi counted nine dead and 42 injured in two tornadoes yesterday.

Newton, Miss., suffered the brunt of yesterday's twister damage.

A report from the Red Cross said 50 homes at Newton were destroyed, 20 badly damaged and about 75 other buildings either destroyed or damaged.

A second tornado which struck 10 miles south of Monticello flattened two houses.

Added to the misery of the water was a forecast in the four affected states—Tennessee, Kentucky, West Virginia and Mississippi—for near freezing weather and possibly some light snow.

Meanwhile, Tennessee, already plagued by rampaging rivers in the central section of the state, anxiously eyed the massive river of the same name and the Cumberland which winds through the heart of Nashville.

Chattanooga expected the Tennessee to crest there at midnight tonight 4.5 feet above flood stage. Already the river stands a foot over the safety mark of 30 feet. Lowlands are flooded.

The Cumberland with a flood stage of 40 feet was standing at 43.5 and threatening to go higher. Business and homes along its precipitous banks prepared for the worst.

The first of the tornadoes rose near Newton, Miss., shortly after noon yesterday, struck a zig-zag course around the town and flattened 50 homes and an airport hangar.

While the danger of tornadoes was lessened by a cold wave spreading over the region, there was another threat in the steady rise of waters in Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi and West Virginia.

Rivers throughout these four states began cresting yesterday, overflowing banks in a wild effort to be rid of the overburden of weeks of snow and rain. Travel was disrupted.

Former Governor of Kentucky Speaks at Lincoln Day Dinner

By SCOTT McMURRAY

"Unity" was the keynote of the address of Simeon D. Willis, former governor of Kentucky, who spoke before an audience of 325 at the Marion County Republican [illegible] annual Lincoln day dinner last night in the social rooms of Wesley Methodist church on Oliver avenue. The dinner audience included members of the club and their guests.

Mr. Willis sounded a call for party unity. He revealed that Lincoln's greatness was not derived from noble birth, his service at the bar or outstanding events in his life but from his faith in the people of this country.

"Lincoln had faith in the people. He believed in unity of the United States and that this unity could only be achieved by a free, active, independent people with [illegible] in process in the conduct of government," Mr. Willis said.

He traced the first success of European dictatorships to a condition of disinterest of the common man in the conduct of his government.

Way to Good Government

"Good government is not a gift won for us by our forefathers and which we can keep without fear of losing it. Good government must be won by each new generation of our people as they come of age, and to have good government we must see that it is based on the high moral principles by which Lincoln lived and worked," he declared.

The former Kentucky governor told his audience:

"In the confusion and confusion of the present many foreign 'isms' have attempted to threaten our way of life. World distress today is a result of contradictions in government as a result of government being placed in irresponsible hands. The irresponsible persons in government are always contradictory in their actions and live in fear of these 'isms' if they are not swallowed up by them.

"No foreign 'isms' can produce a record of accomplishment in any way equal to the accomplishments of the American way of life. Men may come and men may go but the people as a whole go on, hence the future of our democracy depends on the people."

"Too Many Taxes"

"The cost of government today is more than the cost of food, which is an unhealthy and impossible situation," Mr. Willis declared. "Too many taxes for too much government are being taken from the pockets of our people. This burden of taxation threatens insolvency for the people of our nation. A reduction in taxes and a reduction of the national debt are a necessity which will be met by our present congress.

"Do not overlook the possibilities and potential power of the states south of the Ohio river and the traditional border states bounding the 'solid south.' Republican victories in West Virginia, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri and Oklahoma would amass a greater number of electoral votes than are held by the state of New York."

Assails "Too Much" Government

"Government interference in the daily life of our people must go. Government touches upon the daily lives, even affects the very food and clothing of our people. Such interference saps the independence from our people and causes a dependence on government by them. In this way government can control large numbers of the people. This is the opposite of the faith of Lincoln who believed that control of government should come from the people."

In closing Mr. Willis said, "I call for the Republican party to march under the banner and in the spirit of Lincoln and launch a mighty crusade to rid our people

Price Trend Is Reversed

Turn Upward for First Time Since Break in Market on Feb. 4.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 14—For the first time since the price break started Feb. 4, wheat, corn and oats crept up a few cents today and other commodity markets kept in step. Stocks continued to display rising tendencies.

Soybeans were the exception in the Chicago pits. They dropped the daily limit of 8 cents at the start.

Cotton opened as much as $2 a bale higher. Profit taking and hedging pared the gain a bit. But at the end of the first hour buying cropped up again and prices went ahead as much as $2.90 a bale.

Part of the early demand was believed by traders to have resulted from indications that farmers would start placing stocks into government loans rather than sell at current levels.

Assorted industrial stocks advanced by less than $1 a share but many leaders were slightly lower.

Other large grocery chains rushed to join those already putting into effect lower prices on a variety of cost of living items after the commodity price break. The Grand Union Co. said that 27 meat cuts would be tagged lower starting Monday.

The largest of the latest meat price declines were in chuck roast of beef and brisket. Chuck roast or steak will be 55 cents a pound Monday in Grand Union stores, down four cents. Rib roasts will be 61 cents, a drop of two cents.

WRIGHT BROTHERS' PLANE TO COME HOME

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—The Wright brothers' plane which made the world's first powered flight with a man aboard is coming home after a 20-year exile.

The Kensington Museum of Science announced at London last night it is ready to send the first biplane "Kittyhawk" back to the United States.

The Smithsonian Institution, a government museum in Washington, has promised it the place of "highest honor, which is its due."

It was a feud with the Smithsonian over credit for the world's first heavier-than-air flight which led Orville Wright to ship the little aircraft abroad in 1928.

The Smithsonian had displayed the Samuel P. Langley "aerodrome as "the first man-carrying aeroplane in the history of the world capable of sustained free flight."

Langley was secretary of the Smithsonian. His flying machine crashed into the Potomac river during a take-off a few days before Wilbur and Orville Wright flew theirs at Kitty Hawk, N. C., in 1902.

In 1943 the Smithsonian issued a public apology for what it called its "erroneous" statements.

TRUMAN SIGNS BENEFIT BILL

GI Subsistence Allowances Increased Effective April 1.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—President Truman today signed legislation increasing benefits of 2,000,000 veterans attending school under the G.I. bill.

It raises the monthly subsistence allowance for veterans without dependents from $65 to $75, those with one dependent from $90 to $105, and those with two or more dependents from $90 to $120.

The new schedules go into effect April 1.

The Veterans Administration has estimated the increases will cost the government approximately $217,000,000 a year.

Backed By Vets

The measure was backed strongly by veterans' organizations.

It was passed by the senate last summer and by the house Feb. 3.

The house veterans committee's professional staff said veterans working part-time while they go to school will be eligible for the new allowances. However, such a veteran's combined allowance and salary will be held under ceiling.

The present ceilings of $175 a month on combined earnings and allowances for veterans without dependents, and $200 for those with dependents, are not changed by the new law.

For example, a veteran with dependents who is earning $200 a month or more while he goes to school will collect no subsistence allowance. If his salary comes up to only $150, he will get a $50 allowance.

Limit Same

The limit is the same as that in effect for veterans taking on-the-job training, also under the G.I. bill.

A bill to raise the trainees' ceiling has passed congress. It is awaiting action of a conference committee to settle differences in figures in the house and senate versions.

If this ceiling eventually is raised, it will not affect veterans in school who work part time. The increase applies only to those working full time.

Retired Minister In Fatal Accident Near Delaware.

Rev. George Lawrence Pake, 87, retired Presbyterian minister who was serving as interim pastor at the Lee street Presbyterian church, was killed Friday afternoon in a traffic accident at Stratford, three miles south of Delaware on Route 23.

The accident occurred about 2:45 p. m. Friday while he was enboute to Columbus to visit his wife, who has been ill for several months and was convalescing at the home of a daughter. Rev. and Mrs. Pake resided on Route 1, three miles north of Marion.

Rev. Pake, driving alone, crashed head-on into a large tractor trailer, Delaware county Sheriff Earl Fravel said. Sheriff Fravel said witnesses told him that the accident occurred as Rev. Pake attempted to pass another car on the sharp curve just north of the village.

The tractor trailer was driven by Robert W. Ward, 46, of Cincinnati and carried merchandise for Albers Super Markets, Inc.

Driver of the car Rev. Pake was attempting to pass was Howard Gregg, 49, of Columbus. Mr. Gregg's car also struck the tractor trailer. Neither he nor Mr. Ward was injured.

Rev. Pake's car was so badly wrecked that cutting torches had to be used to remove his body. The minister was dead when he arrived at the scene, Sheriff Fravel said. The sheriff was notified shortly before 3 p. m., shortly after the accident occurred.

While the road was not extremely slippery, rain and fog made visibility very poor, the sheriff said.

Rev. Pake's body was taken to the Robinson-Buckney funeral home in Delaware after the accident and was returned to Marion today to the Hughes Mortuary here.

Rev. Pake's Career

Rev. George Lawrence Pake was born June 25, 1860, at Downington, Meigs county, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Pake. He received education in the grade schools of Meigs county and for three years resided at the Soldiers and Sailors Orphans home in Xenia. He then attended school at Atwood institute and was graduated from Ohio university at Athens in 1884. While employed on the railroad, he was called to serve the Norfolk and Western railroad Y.M.C.A. at Portsmouth.

He was then asked to do missionary work in the mountains of West Virginia by the Presbyterian church, serving in that capacity several years. He entered the ministry in the Synod of Virginia. Coming to Marion in 1914, he served as pastor of the Lee Street Presbyterian church until 1923 when he went to Waverly in the southern part of the state, and served pastorates there, at Russellville, and in Portsmouth, where he served from 1930 to 1937 when he retired from the active ministry. He returned to Marion at that time, and it was a year ago in April that he took over the interim pastorate of the Lee Street church.

Masonic Affiliations

In the Masonic lodge here, he was a member of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M., Marion Chapter No. 62, R.A.M., and Marion Council No. 22, R. and S. M. He became a member of the Masons at Marshfield in 1887 and held a 50-year Masonic medal.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Mattie Taylor Pake, whom he married in 1910 in Portsmouth, living now with a daughter in Columbus. It was while Rev. Pake was enroute there on his weekly visit that the accident in which he was injured fatally happened. He was living alone at the rural Marion address.

Surviving also are children, Thomas Pake of Marion, and Mrs. Louise Needles of Columbus, two stepdaughters, Mrs. Neil F. Howard of Columbus and Mrs. Mary Keller of Portland, Ore., and a brother, Frank Pake of Kent.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. in the Merle H. Hughes mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue by Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of First Presbyterian church. Burial will be in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after Sunday noon.

At the Lee Street church tomorrow there will be no preaching service at the regular worship hour, Rev. Olewiler stated.

DAY OF PRAYER SERVICES HELD

Program on Friday Afternoon Sponsored by Church Women's Council.

"The Lord's Prayer" was the theme for the annual observance of the World Day of Prayer sponsored by the Marion County Council of Church Women, yesterday afternoon in Calvary Evangelical church. Approximately 150 women from churches in the city and county attended the service.

Mrs. Leo Keller, council president, presided and the message was presented by Mrs. J. B. Holloway. Representing the youth division of the council were Miss Virginia Howard and Guy Stover Jr. who presented memorized scripture passages. Mrs. Charles Feaver was the song leader and Mrs. J. W. Baker presided at the organ. Mrs. Willard Cinder sang "The Lord's Prayer," by Malotte.

Mrs. Holloway chose as her text "Lord, Teach Us to Pray." She said it is not the words we use at Prayer but the spirit in which we speak, adding that when the disciples asked Jesus to teach them to pray He told them of the kind of things He prayed for. Taking the Lord's Prayer she said the salutation, "Our Father," is the Father of you and me, and gave us His abode, "Who Art in Heaven." Emphasizing reverence she chose the words "Hallowed be Thy Name" and for petition the passage "Thy Will Be Done." She said we are privileged by having three simple requests, "feed us, forgive us and defend us."

The six projects supported by the Council of Church Women including educational work and work among migrant workers, were presented by six women in a candlelight service. Candles carried by the women were illuminated from a central candle symbolizing Christ as the central figure of Christianity.

As a part of the observance leaflets were distributed previous to the meeting to the City hospital, Waddell Ladies home and Marion County home, to be read at the same hour as the meeting.

Churches participating in the program included St. Paul's Episcopal, Epworth, Prospect Street and Wesley Methodist, Calvary and First Evangelical United Brethren and the rural Salem Evangelical United Brethren church, Trinity Baptist, First and Salem Evangelical and Reformed, Central Christian, Forest Lawn Presbyterian, First Church of the Brethren and Park Street A.M.E.

Father, Police Fail To Save Choking Baby

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 14 — An eight-month-old baby choked to death today despite efforts of the father and a police rescue squad to save the child's life.

Anthony Ambrose, 38, the father, started breathing into the mouth of the infant, Mary Ann, when she began to choke and cough. The rescue squad later administered oxygen for 15 minutes, but she was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

CIO WANTS U.S. TO STUDY FUEL PROCESS

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Feb. 14—The CIO United Auto Workers want a federal inquiry to determine the merits of a coal distillation process demonstrated by L. C. Karrick, a Nelsonville, O., chemical engineer.

Karrick, speaking at a public meeting arranged by the UAW-CIO at Wayne university, said last night, full commercial use of his process would provide the nation with enough coal, oil and gas to meet all its industrial and home consumption requirements.

The Ohio engineer, working from a scale model of his project, declared that from the Detroit area's consumption of 12,000,000 tons of coal a year his process would give the following:

24,000,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

8,500,000 tons of smokeless, solid fuel.

310,000,000 - 340,000,000 gallons of crude oil.

1,200,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity.

Also by-products useful in industry and in medicine.

Referring to Detroit, which has been plagued by industrial gas shortages, Karrick said the additional supply would give the city fifty per cent more natural gas than now is available.

Karrick's process involves placing coal in a retort into which live steam would be forced. The oil in the coal and the natural gases would be extracted, leaving a residual which he said would be comparable to ordinary household coal.

RIVERS

were encircled by the waters, but stuck to their homes.

Seven Clark county roads were closed, along with sections of highways in several other districts. The water ranged from three inches to three feet over those routes.

Streets Hit Hard

No damage estimates were available around the state. Hardest hit were streets, residential basements and their heating systems.

A Frigidaire spokesman at Moraine City said damage to the plant "would be very extensive."

Along most rivers the heavy ice of a frigid January was on the move, broken by rain, high temperatures and rapid thawing. The jagged, spotty ice pack of the Ohio ground along from the Queen City down to Madison, Ind.

2 ACCIDENTS OCCUR AT SAME LOCATION

Two traffic accidents occurred in the same spot less than two hours apart yesterday on route 61 at the intersection of route 229, near Marengo, the state highway patrol reported.

At 1:45 p. m. a car driven by Carl Bean, 52, of Carolington and a tractor-trailer truck driven by John Bobnicka, 30, of Cleveland sideswiped as Bobnicka attempted to pass Bean's car. Both car and truck were thrown out of control and ran into a roadside ditch.

Bean was arrested by highway patrolmen on a charge of failing to yield the right of way. He pleaded guilty before Mayor Roy Bennington of Mt. Gilead and was fined $10 and costs.

Patrolmen had just resumed patrolling after Bean's hearing when they arrived at 3 p. m. at the same intersection and witnessed a three-car crash involving Jack Brown, 22, of Ashland, William Woodruff, 43, and Donald Gottfried, 21, Shaker Heights, O.

Approaching the intersection a car ahead of Gottfried slowed its speed. Gottfried slowed his speed, Brown slowed behind Gottfried, but Woodruff followed Brown could not reduce his speed in time and struck the rear of Brown's car. The Brown and Woodruff cars were slightly damaged.

Fog, rain and a slippery road surface were contributing factors in both cases, patrolmen stated.

At 7:30 p. m. last night the second three-car crash of the day occurred a half mile south of Waldo on route 23. A car driven by Bradley Duncan, 26, of Bidwell attempted passing a tractor-trailer truck driven by Floyd Burns, 34, of Wheeling, W. Va. While midway of the length of Burns' truck Duncan's car slid sideswiping the truck and careening off struck the front of a truck approaching from the opposite direction, driven by Allan Houger, 40, of Newark. A heavy fog causing poor visibility was blamed for the accident.

Charles Gloor, 27, of Cleveland was arrested yesterday by patrolmen on route 23 north of Marion for driving a truck of greater length than the legal limit. He was arraigned before Judge Hazen in municipal court at 4 p. m. and posted a $25 bond for his appearance Monday.

Mayor Roy Bennington of Mt. Gilead fined Marion Reynolds, 27, of Bucyrus $20 and costs for speeding on route 61 north of Mt. Gilead and Jack Sharp, 33, of Youngstown drew a fine of $25 and costs from the mayor for the same offense on route 42. Both men were fined Feb. 12, the patrol reported today.

national record "exceeding the rebuilding job done after the Texas City explosion."

The citizens of Scio, working without blueprints and using what Reese said was "just common sense," built the equivalent of 3,000 square feet of floor space a day. In Texas City the rate was 800 a day.

News Told Abroad

Even the state department in Washington took notice. It told a cynical world through the broadcast voice of America about this sample of democracy at work.

Reese founded the Scio pottery 15 years ago, taking over a long-dead plant of the Albright China Co. From the first Christmas, Reese began sharing profits with his townspeople-employes through bonuses. The first Christmas he gave out candy. In 1946 he distributed $750,000.

The fire blocked such bonuses this Christmas.

But the famed employer-employe relations at Scio pottery paid off, however. A civic committee turned up 1,800 tons of scarce steel. Practically all able-bodied citizens in town turned out in some way to help rebuild the plant.

Around the core of a common aim, the rebuilding of the pottery, the 1,200 residents of this town have built up a fierce pride of city.

School Supt. Frank Krebs, who works with the children, turned his explanation in that direction.

"Everyone in this town is happy," he said. "There is absolutely no juvenile delinquency here. The children come from homes that have no financial hardships. During the summer they earn spending money at the pottery and are well occupied."

SENATORS PROTEST ARMED FORCES GAG

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—Three senators complained today the secretary of defense is trying to "gag" the armed forces.

Secretary Forrestal has ordered all Army, Navy and Air Force men to give his office a first look at any future statements or speeches on controversial subjects.

He said that includes testimony to congressional committees. The idea, he explained, is to stop "public evidence of friction" among the rival arms.

"An iron curtain," snapped Senator Johnson (D-Colo).

"I don't want the admirals and generals to be a-feudin', a-fightin' and a-fussin' in public but I do want them free to express their opinion."

Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the senate armed services committee said he is so "concerned" about the order he will ask his group to "discuss it at our first session."

"I take it we are a free country," Gurney told a reporter. "I see no reason why the public should not be as fully informed as possible by those qualified to speak upon matters of national interest."

Senator Morse (R-Ore), a member of the committee, agreed.

He said congress expects all military personel to give information "without censorship and without fear of discipline being suffered by the witness."

Senator Thomas (D-Utah) who headed the military committee when Democrats controlled the senate, took a different view. He said the rule actually might result in "better and freer testimony."

SPECIAL SUNDAY SERVICE

A special service will be held at the Wesleyan chapel at New Bloomington Sunday afternoon, Rev. Dennis Matherlee, formerly of Marion, is expected to be present. Mr. and Mrs. Troy Coats will be in charge of a song service, Rev. Lawrence Jones, pastor, announced.

went on with Mrs. Neveckas smiling, chuckling, weeping a bit here and there softly and always evidently restraining herself.

Happy Moiher

She was a happy mother. That was obvious to those in the room.

Just before she ended this second conversation in two days with the daughter she had not seen for three years, Mrs. Neveckas said:

"I am going to say prayers for you both. And I wish you both luck, lots and lots of good luck. I hope I can see you both—soon."

And then mother Neveckas broke down and wept without restraint. The emotional strain was terrific and she was not different from any other mother whose daughter is getting married, no matter the bridegroom's status.

Mrs. Neveckas finally wiped her eyes and said to Mrs. Claussen:

"It makes no difference whether my Eva is marrying a Mr. Rockefeller or a Mr. Miller. If two people are in love, this is good enough."

U. S. farm production for the years 1945 and 1946 was approximately one-third greater than the average of the years 1935-1939.

TAFT SPEAKS IN COLORADO

Important Speech on National Defense Scheduled in Denver Tonight.

BULLETIN

DENVER, Feb. 14—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today a $5,300,000,000 outlay for 12 months of European aid is "too large." Taft, who heads the senate Republican policy committee, told a news conference here he expects congress to reduce that amount. The senate foreign relations committee previously approved a bill making the $5,300,000,000 available for the 12 months beginning April 1.

EN ROUTE TO DENVER WITH TAFT, Feb. 14—Senator Taft (R-Ohio), a self-styled "true liberal," tried his political luck today with Colorado's 15 votes in the Republican presidential race.

The Ohioan headed for Denver and a top drawer political speech on national defense tonight. He expected to talk Republican policies generally at a quickie visit to Colorado Springs for a noon luncheon.

Taft has given advance notice he favors a super-duper air force. He has vigorously opposed universal military training.

In fact, the Ohio senator has suggested he would like to have federal spending on an air force superior to any in the world, even if the money has to be subtracted from the $6,800,000,000 President Truman has asked to start operation of the Marshall plan.

Firm Against Training

Neither has he minced words about universal military training.

Taft told a Lincoln birthday audience at Omaha last night: "There can be no more serious limitation of freedom than the action of government in conscripting young men from their homes and schools and occupations."

Taft made it plain he believes "true liberals" regard freedom of individual action as more sacred than almost any activity, except possibly the providing of food for the hungry.

The Ohio senator charged in his Omaha speech New Dealers had attempted to "appropriate" the term "liberal".

He said any party such as the New Deal, which attempts to solve every national problem by creating a new government bureau, cannot "claim the term 'liberal'."

Every crackpot in the country claims to be a liberal, he said. "It has even acquired Russian overtones."

Gives Own Definition

Instead, the Ohio senator laid down his own definitions of a liberal. Most of his friends said he was expressing his own views when he listed:

Those who want government to take the lead in improving the condition of the people.

Those who oppose any "limitation on freedom."

Those who want social gains obtained through "the cooperative action of the people themselves." Those who are "interested in the practical means" of providing education for all children.

Those who try to avoid "all detailed regulation by the government."

Alluding to President Truman's repeated requests for price-wage controls and rationing, Taft declared:

"I cannot see how any liberal can be in favor of price control, rationing and allocation control in time of peace."

CONGRESS OFFERED COMPROMISE ERP

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—The senate foreign relations committee today offered congress a way to get the Marshall plan started for $5,300,000,000.

It has agreed to recommend that the sum for European recovery during the first 12 months instead of the $6,800,000 President Truman asked for 15 months.

First reaction of the Marshall plan's critics gave the compromise little encouragement.

"When you analyze it, it's no different than it was," said Senator Wherry (R-Neb), the assistant majority leader. Wherry is one of a group of 29 GOP senators who are determined to tone down the whole foreign aid program.

He said the committee plan would merely delay bigger appropriations for the 16 western European nations until next year.

"They are doing that because it makes the figure smaller," Wherry told a reporter. "They think they'll pick up a few votes."

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) was quick to concede there would be little actual saving. The spending rate per month would be around $11,666,666 lower or a total of $140,000,000 for the first year.

But Vandenberg said he regards the committee draft as a big improvement over the original bill from the state department.

Many residents of Lisbon believe they are descendants of the ancient Phonecians.

In spite of losing two fingers in an Indiana coal mine accident, Brown advanced through the semi-pros to big-league competition with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1903. He served with the Cubs nine years, amassing a pitching record of 239 victories and 131 defeats.

NAVY SEEKS RELEASE OF FOUR MARINES

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Feb. 14—U. S. marine planes dropped leaflets today in Chinese Communist areas near Tsingtao in an effort to open negotiations for release of four leathernecks held by the Reds.

A spokesman for the U. S. embassy said the navy was in contact with the Communists and was doing everything possible to arrange their release."

The Chinese Communist radio in a broadcast picked up by The Associated Press in San Francisco, confirmed yesterday that five marines were captured Christmas day and one of them had died of wounds. The Reds charged the marines were aiding government troops in an engagement north of Tsingtao, in North China.

U. S. naval authorities have answered similar charges with emphatic denials. In this case four marines were on special passes for a hunting trip and the fifth was absent without leave. Their bullet riddled, burned jeep was found later.

Bullitt Should Have Left Paris When It Fell, Hull Declares

By CORDELL HULL

(Copr. 1942, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

INSTALLMENT XVIII

P... REYNAUD, just before leaving Paris with his government a few hours after Mussolini declared war, cabled a dramatic appeal to President Roosevelt to declare publicly that the United States would support the Allies by all means short of an actual declaration of war.

"We shall fight," he said, "in front of Paris; we shall fight behind Paris; we shall close ourselves in one of our provinces to defend it; if we should be driven out of it we shall establish ourselves in North Africa to continue the fight and if necessary in one of the French possessions."

The President and I knew the French could neither fight in front of Paris or behind Paris nor ... themselves in one of their provinces. Reynaud had British ... and). But it was still ... to retain control of the ... withdraw to North Africa, ... the fight from there, ... the best of good will ... the world, we ... there were physical ... limits on what we ... said France. The fight ... was effectively over; ... nothing we could possibly do to keep Hitler from consolidating ... metropolitan France. We therefore sought to send a reply that would encourage Reynaud and his government to carry on from North Africa and to preserve the French fleet intact.

THE GERMANS OCCUPIED Paris on June 14, the day before the President's reply. Ambassador Bullitt acted with the military governor in turning the undefended city over to the Germans without loss of life. Bullitt, at his own wish, had remained behind rather than accompany the French government to Tours and then to Bordeaux. His thought was that he could render greater service to the Allied cause and to the people of Paris by remaining on, at least temporarily, under German occupation, than by going with the French government in flight. He had in mind the action of American Ambassador Myron Herrick, who remained in Paris rather than accompany the French government to Bordeaux during the First World War.

This devision, in my opinion, was unfortunate. It deprived Bullitt of all contact with the French government during the crucial week between June 10, when it left Paris, and June 17, when it asked for an armistice. Had Bullitt, with his unequalled contacts with the leaders of the French government, been able to represent us during those historic days, it is possible, if not probable, that that government would have taken the fleet, gone to North Africa, and continued the fight from there.

BULLITT'S PLACE was taken by Ambassador Biddle, who had been in Paris representing us to the Polish government-in-exile. Biddle was a fine diplomat, but his contacts and influence with the French government were not to be compared with those of Bullitt.

As the Germans approached Paris Bullitt communicated to the President direct that he knew the state department would oppose the proposal he was about to make, hence he was approaching him personally. He then proposed staying in Paris, instead of going with the French government.

Bullitt had communicated directly with the President on many occasions by telephone and cable. He also employed a private code he had worked out solely with the President. This routine reached a climax in the tragic days of France's defeat. The result was that at times the state department remained in the dark as to what Bullitt was thinking and doing, although the President informed me of many of these communications from Bullitt and, always gave me full information when I asked him about any particular item. Liking the dramatic side of foreign affairs, Mr. Roosevelt did not discourage this practice.

When I became aware of Bullitt's proposal I went to see the President. I said to him I opposed this project and thought our ambassador should go with the French government. It seemed to me that Bullitt's influence with the German occupation authorities in Paris would be very small, because his strong anti-Nazi sentiments were well known to the German government. On the other hand, his influence with the French government might be decisive.

THE PRESIDENT HIMSELF then telephoned Bullitt. He said to the ambassador that he, the President and I thought he ought to leave Paris with the government. He made the argument that Bullitt might be murdered by either the Communists or the Nazis, since he was hated by both. Bullitt said he could not run away from danger, and argued the President out of his opposition.

At Tours and then at Bordeaux Ambassador Biddle took up the struggle, seeing Reynaud, Petain, Minister of the Navy Admiral Darlan, Daladier and others, and impressing upon them again and again our view that France, with her navy intact, should continue to resist. Biddle's dispatches gave us a vivid narrative of the drama being played within the French cabinet, with Reynaud opposing an armistice and Petain favoring it, while from outside the cabinet the sinister Laval began to use his influence for capitulation.

Then on the night of June 16 Reynaud resigned, and Petain formed a new cabinet, with Baudoin as foreign minister and Admiral Darlan as minister of marine, to seek an armistice.

The British and American governments made desperate efforts to ensure the safety of the French navy. Churchill sent his first lord of the admiralty, his first sea lord and his secretary for the colonies to Bordeaux to represent him. After discussing the situation with the President, I sent one of the strongest cables of my career to Ambassador Biddle at Bordeaux for communication to the Petain government.

"THE PRESIDENT DESIRES you to say," I said, "that in the opinion of this government should the French government, before concluding any armistice with the Germans, fail to see that the fleet is kept out of the hands of her opponents, the French government will fatally impair the preservation of the French empire and the eventual restoration of French independence and autonomy. Furthermore, should the French government fail to take these steps and permit the French fleet to be surrendered to Germany, the French government will permanently lose the friendship and good will of the government of the United States."

This was almost a brutal message, but the situation was such that only a strong message could have served any purpose.

Biddle handed this cable to Darlan as he was about to enter a cabinet meeting on June 18. Biddle also called Baudoin from the meeting to hand him a copy. Although Baudoin seemed to Biddle keenly irritated over the vigor of the note, he and Darlan laid it before the cabinet. The government thereupon decided that under no circumstances should the fleet be turned over to the Germans and that, if surrender were embraced in the German terms, the armistice should be rejected.

THE FRENCH FLEET was not our sole preoccupation. We were also preoccupied as to what might happen to the British fleet. Now that France had succumbed Hitler was free to turn the full force of his power against Britain. The President and I believed Britain could and would resist the Nazi attack successfully, but there were many in America and Europe who believed with Petain and his group that Britain would be conquered or make peace within a few weeks.

When British Ambassador Lothian came in to see me on June 11 he said he had received from Churchill a suggestion that staff conferences be held between naval officials of our two governments with regard to fleet movements in both the Atlantic and the Pacific. I replied that I doubted whether there would be any occasion for staff conferences, but I would be glad to pass his suggestion on to the President.

Lothian asked if his military attache could confer with appropriate officials in the war department with regard to the effect of British and French bombings in side Germany. I said I was sure our military people would be glad to give his attache any information at all feasible, although we could not be connected with any exchange of information of that nature. Subsequently I arranged for the military attache to confer with the war department on this subject, and I requested our diplomatic and consular officers in Germany to keep us well informed on the results of British bombings in Germany.

I TALKED FURTHER with Lothian on June 24 about the disposition of the British fleet. He again made the suggestion that confidential staff conferences be held between the appropriate military and naval officials of our two governments. These would be highly important in the event the British government had to move to Canada, taking with it what would be left of the British fleet. But this would result only from a British defeat—and neither Lothian nor I contemplated this at all.

I remarked that it might prove more desirable to have an exchange of information through diplomatic rather than through army and navy officials, at least during this stage. What the President and I had in mind was the possibility that the holding of military staff conversations would "leak out" and opponents of the administration, along with the isolationists, would forthwith charge that the President was planning to get the United States into the war.

A dramatic, though only partial, settlement of the question of the fleet came on July 3. Then the British took over the French warships in British ports; they informed the French admiral in command of a squadron at Alexandria that they would sink his ships if he tried to take them to France where they would fall under German control; and they delivered an ultimatum to the French admiral in command of a large portion of the French navy, at Mers-el-Kebir, near Oran, North Africa. The ultimatum required the French warships at Mers-el-Kebir to join the British or else proceed to British or West Indian or United States ports to be interned. When the French admiral refused, the British opened fire and put most of the French ships out of commission, killing more than 1,000 Frenchmen.

I could not help but be inexpressibly saddened by this latest manifestation of the tragic break between Britain and France.

A YEAR AND A HALF LATER, when Mr. Churchill was visiting the President toward the end of December, 1941, I sat between the prime minister and a British admiral at one of the luncheons the President gave for his distinguished visitor. The admiral asked me what I had thought of the British attack on the French fleet at Oran. I parried the question because I did not want to get in a squabble between him and Mr. Churchill, for I had heard that the British navy had been opposed to the attack and that differences over it had arisen within the British government.

A few minutes later, however, I brought up the subject with Mr. Churchill himself. He wound up with a general statement that the Vichy French were not to be trusted and would have turned the fleet over to the Germans if the attack had not been made. He also said that British prestige being then at its lowest ebb, he had wanted to raise it throughout the world by means of this action which showed that Britain still meant to fight.

BULLITT, WHO HAD LEFT Paris after some days of German occupation, saw Petain, Laval, Baudoin, and others at Vichy on July 4, the day after the British attack. He cabled me on the 5th that their reaction was violent in the extreme. Several cabinet members advocated immediate acts of war against Britain, but Petain resolutely opposed anything more than a break of diplomatic relations. Petain said to Bullitt he recognized that only a defeat of Hitler by some other power could restore independence to France, and he therefore sincerely desired a British victory. He sought to minimize the breach with Britain by attributing it to what he called Churchill's personal lack of balance.

DEAR FRIENDS OF MARION AND MARION CO.,

YOU EXCEEDED OUR EXPECTATIONS

We knew you wanted a locker plant! We knew you needed a locker plant! But we didn't expect the gigantic crowd which we experienced last Sunday when our doors were opened for your inspection. We were indeed pleased with the interest shown by all of you — our friends in Marion and Marion County.

In our effort to make everyone welcome and show you our new plant, we were unable to talk with each of you as long as we would have liked. However, at your convenience, drop in and let us have a minute of your time to talk over your frozen food problems. If we fail to answer any questions, be sure to ask us, and we'll endeavor to answer them to the best of our ability.

Our thanks to everyone who helped in any way to make possible the erection of our new plant!

To You Who Have Made Reservation for a Locker:

Since inquiries are constantly being received about the number of lockers still available, we would greatly appreciate your coming in and completing arrangements for your locker.

We thank you for making our Grand Opening the huge success it was. We hope that you were pleased with our new plant, and we are looking forward to serving you often in the future.

Very truly yours,

Wallahe Beery Named In Paternity Action

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 14—Wallace Beery, of the movies, is accused in a superior court suit of fathering the week-old son of a 32-year-old film bit player.

Beery was named defendant in a paternity action filed yesterday by Mrs. Gloria Schumm, known professionally as Gloria Whitney.

"I have known Miss Whitney for 15 years," Beery told reporters. "She has just been a casual acquaintance. There is absolutely no truth to the charge. I don't know why she is doing this."

Beery must appear in court March 2 to show cause why a temporary order for support of the infant, Johan Richard Wallace Schumm, should not be issued.

The suit gives Beery's age as 63 but studio records list it as 58. Mrs. Schumm asked the court to declare Beery the child's father and compel him to pay "reasonable monthly support, all medical expenses and reasonable attorneys' fees.'"

Mansfield Grocer Sues Three Baking Concerns

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Feb. 14 — Three bakeries conspired to keep him from selling bread at 17 cents a loaf, Grocer Carl Sternbaum charged yesterday in Richland county common pleas court.

He asked double damages of $25,000.

The grocer said the Continental Baking Co., Ward Baking Co. and Alfred Nickles Baking, Inc., told him he couldn't charge less than 18 cents. When he refused to boost his price, he said, they curtailed and delayed deliveries.

Until the end of the 18th century lighthouses were illuminated by coal or wood fires set in braziers on top of towers.

BEEFBURGERS IS OUR BUSINESS

not see something strange about the breakfast table. A bowl in the center contained a dozen fresh red roses.

"What are those?" he mumbled.

"Please don't talk when your mouth is full," Wilbur, said Trellis Mae.

He swallowed. "What are those?"

As if you didn't know, you lamb,' said his wife affectionately.

Wilbur noticed a white envelope on the table. He pulled from it a card bearing the figures of two cupids swinging from a red heart. The card bore a printed verse:

"Roses are red,
You are true blue
Dear valentine
All my life through."

"WHERE IN THE NAME of Peoria did this come from?" said Wilbur.

His wife came around and sat in his lap.

'You thoughtful old bear, you,' she said, rumpling the six scattered souvenirs left where he used to part his hair. 'It's the first time in five years you've remembered me on Valentine's day. I thought all the romance had gone out of you.'

"Look," Wilbur began stoutly.

Remember how we always used to go out on Valentine's day," said Trellis Mae carefully putting one foot on the floor to take some of her weight off Wilbur's sagging knees. "When we were first married it was always one of the fun days of the year."

"You always started them out just like this—with flowers."

SHE GAVE HIM A KISS and then went around to her chair again. Wilbur peeked morosely at the last parcels.

"You want to go somewhere tonight?" he said suddenly without looking up.

"Oh, Wilbur!"

"I'll get some theatre tickets. You call me and meet me uptown. We can go to a night club after the show and pick up something to eat."

"And dance maybe?"

"Maybe," said Wilbur.

Trellis Mae helped him on with his coat.

"Happy valentine, my valentine,' she said, and kissed him with more than the usual wifely peck.

Wilbur went out the door looking vaguely puzzled. Fifteen minutes later Trellis Mae phoned a friend.

"It worked with Wilbur,' she said excitedly. "How about Fred?"

"Hook, line and sinker," said Hortense.

"Fine, we'll meet you at the Rainbow parlor club right after the play."

"What do you think the boys will say when they get the bills for the flowers?" said Hortense nervously.

"I don't know about your Fred," said Trellis Mae grimly, "but if my Wilbur even opens his trap he'll be awfully sor-r-r-eeee."

PEORIA, Ill., Feb 14—Three Mansfield, O., youths were sentenced today to from one to five years each in the Illinois state penitentiary for armed robbery.

They are Bruno Dresch, 22, Richard A. Grubaugh, 17, and Robert W. Livingstone, 16.

The three, who pleaded guilty, were indicted Jan. 8 on charge of robbing the Koren Jobbing Co. of Peoria of $200. A fourth member of their gang, Leroy Miller, also of Mansfield, was accidentally killed in a Quincy hotel room while handling firearms.

Circuit Judge Joseph E. Daily refused their request for probation, declaring that "I was held up myself once, and I regard it as the most serious crime outside of murder."

OUT-LOOK
—when experienced, professional financiers are "guessing" is a time for small investors to save for certainties.

Recent stock and commodity market fluctuations have demonstrated how to lose money and how to make it, too, if you are lucky.

Our books show the records of thousands of individuals and families who do not depend on luck to accumulate enough money for their certain later needs and unexpected expenses.

They depend, rather, on planned savings—regular deposits of a percentage of income, knowing it is safe and their own to dispose of as desired. Take a new look at your affairs and then come in and open a new account or increase your present one.

FARM BUREAU CO-OP ANNUAL SESSION HELD

400 Members of County Group Hear Reports.

Reports on the year's activities were given at the annual meeting of the Marion County Farm Bureau Cooperative association Thursday night at the Masonic temple. Speaker for the meeting, attended by approximately 400 members, was Herbert Evans of Columbus, personnel director of the Ohio Farm Bureau Cooperative association. Music was furnished by an orchestra from New Bloomington and Robert Everett of Green Camp entertained with a vocal solo. A business and program session was followed by a social hour.

A report given by V. F. Shoots, manager of the association showed a volume of business in the amount of $1,243,000 for the year just closed. Robert Denzer of Waldo, Joseph Isler of Prospect and Walter Mautz of Marion R. 9, were elected on the board of directors, and Philip Baker of Marion R. 3 was named to fill an unexpired term.

Lloyd Calhoun, organization director, in presenting the membership report, announced there are 748 paid-up members in the organization. The goal is 750, he stated.

Marion Man Must Pay Canton Parking Tickets

By Brush-Moore News Service

CANTON, Feb. 14—Municipal Judge D. L. McCarroll ordered the payment of five parking tickets and towing charges to stand Friday as sentence in the case of Maurice Flowers, 41, of Marion, who was found guilty last week of a violation of the city's parking meter ordinance.

Flowers had asked for hearing on the seldom-tried charge after police towed his car from the street because of five delinquent parking tickets charged to it. Under protest, he paid for the parking tickets and the $3 towing charge for impounding his car.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

AS if we were actuated by a single impulse, Lillian and Harry Underwood, Dicky and I watched the departure of Mr. "K" and Carlotta Carroll from the Underwood living room as if we were absorbed auditors at a play watching the exit of a star and her leading man.

For that, I told myself and knew that the rest of our group shared my conviction was the relationship of the two people who were leaving us. Mr. "K", brilliant young F.B.I. operator, so far, subject to my father, of course, had dominated every situation in which we had observed him. But I was sure, that without his ever guessing the fact—Carlotta Carroll was too femininely wise for that—he would be playing second fiddle to the beautiful and brilliant woman he was escorting from the room, investing the procedure with a touch of the homage given to royalty. Indeed I did not think democratic—and cynical—Mr. "K" would give any more deference to royalty than he was compelled to give by the exigencies of whatever situation in which he found himself.

Both of them had said the usual cordial, well-bred farewells but Carlotta turned at the door and flashed her child-like enchanting smile at us.

"Good-bye, everybody," she said raising her hand in an airy salute. "I'll be seeing you."

Then the door closed behind them, and we were conscious that my father's eyes were watching us.

"What do you think of her?" he asked, and I think we all were startled at the question. He is not given to asking the opinion of even his 'nearest and dearest' about any new associate of his.

"She's tops," Lillian answered promptly, "but then I had a start on the rest of you. She was parked with me in the library, as you know, for quite some time, and I put her through all my little Spanish Inquisition tests for new acquaintances. She came through everyone of them with flying colors. She's brilliant, brain competent, and her child-like gayety is genuine. But don't be fooled by it. She's shrewd as the devil, and she can tell at a split second's notice if anybody's trying to pull anything phony on her."

Lillian stopped mainly because she was out of breath, I conjectured, and my father spoke again.

"How about you, Margaret?" he asked.

"As you know," I said slowly, "I always reserve judgment at a first meeting. But, from everything I observed tonight, I am very sure that later I shall confirm Lillian's opinion enthusiastically."

"Conservative Clara!" my husband mocked, but only with his lips, which I read with a tremor of my risibles. And I noticed that he awaited with respectful deference my father's next question, directed to him.

"Are you being conservative with Margaret, Dicky, or enthusiastic with Lillian?" my father asked, with a little smile just touching his lips.

"Me, in my little heart, I'm agreeing with Lil," my husband said, "but you know how these things are"—he winked wickedly at me—"my brain tells me I'd better

One Killed, 7 Overcome By Break in Gas Line

By The Associated Press

NILES, O., Feb. 14—One man died and seven other persons were overcome by gas fumes early today in an apartment house.

Al Bray was pronounced dead at Trumbull Memorial hospital in Warren.

In fair condition at the hospital were M. and Mrs. Oscar Knat, L. A. Fell, 37, J. P. Butler, 76 and his wife Anna, 72, and Richard Barry, 71. Firemen also reported Mrs. Martha Hoover was overcome by the fumes.

Fire Chief James Swager said the apartment, located back of a sporting goods shop and barber shop, was filled with gas. He expressed belief a gas line had developed a leak during the night.

James W. Kiser, operator of a party shop, discovered the gas victims when he visited the apartment to learn why Mrs. Hoover had failed to report for work in his shop.

REPORT CITES NEED FOR GRADE TEACHERS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 14—Today the Ohio elementary pupils will be a wide open employment field for many years.

The Ohio department of education and the Ohio Education Association made public a joint statement in which they set 3,000 new teachers a year for the next five years as a minimum need of Ohio elementary schools.

"We can expect elementary teaching to offer greater benefits than ever before," declared T. G. McKeefe, OEA research director.

"Salaries are going up, pay differentials between elementary and high school teachers are being eliminated, and the vast number of new elementary school buildings to be constructed in the near future assures improved working conditions."

The New Chief of Staff

THE NATION is fortunate in having such a man as Gen. Omar N. Bradley to take over as Army chief of staff with the departure of Gen. Eisenhower. Although his outstanding war record won him the title of "Tarheian of the West," Gen. Bradley has other characteristics which should make him an eminent peacetime chief of staff.

Those characteristics are evident in a statement he made the other day. He said, "I do not for a moment believe the Army is a sacred institution to be protected by the illusion that it can do no wrong. Generals are just plain people—and like anyone else they are often wrong. During the war mistakes were made—many of them. Let us remember that human nature doesn't change when you wrap it up in a uniform."

Armies too often are commanded by martinets, stiff-necked doctrinaries who forget nothing, learn nothing and never concede an error. Gen. Bradley isn't of this school. He will continue along the lines of his predecessors, Gen. Eisenhower and Gen. Marshall.

Miss Kellems Is Back

VIVIEN KELLEMS, the lady industrialist of Westport, Conn., is back in the news, the first time since 1944 when she started a one-woman income tax revolt that fizzled out in unsavory rumors about some letters which the office of censorship had picked up. These were turned over eventually to a congressional subcommittee—and Miss Kellems, presumably, continued to pay income taxes.

She has a new revolt. She challenges the federal government to make her withhold income tax payments from her employes' wages. If she is going to be a tax collector, she says, she wants to be paid a salary for it. Of course if that's the way she feels, she's entitled to her opinion.

But there will be dissent from her opinion, plenty of it. It will be based on two convictions:

1. The withholding tax (the Ruml plan, adopted in June 1943) is the only conceivable way to collect federal income at the rate which was necessary during wartime and is still in effect. Either the tax payments have to be made currently at the source, or many of them can't be made at all.

2. Employers as a whole, realizing this and wanting to help their employes, do not begrudge the cost of doing this work for the government. They think of it, rather, as a service to their employes. For employers it means the addition of a relatively small cost item. For the government it would mean the outlay of millions of dollars that would be added to the already exorbitant tax bill. See, Miss Kellems?

The Passing of Merit Pay

A FEW DAYS ago the U.S. Sixth District court of appeals at Cincinnati ruled that an employer must consult his plant union, if one is recognized, before granting individual merit pay raises.

The particular case involved a packing house in its relations with the Meat Cutters' union but the court's decision presumably will apply to all labor-management circles, subject to ultimate determination by the supreme court.

In some plants the union's right to pass on merit raises is a part of the union contract. The wise union allows the employer to exceed the union scale except when a continued pattern clearly shows the employer is basing the raises on degree of union activity rather than on efficiency and ability. Other unions have made it into an involved procedure which puts all raises on a basis of seniority or other yardstick.

Such agreements are the private affairs of the employers and workers involved. But when the principle is to be applied by government edict or court interpretation of such an edict then the matter has an application on individual rights.

If the decision stands up on appeal to the supreme court, it will be an unfair labor practice for any employer to exercise his own judgment in voluntary merit raises unless the union just happens to admire his judgment. Incentive for the improvement of skill, efficiency and initiative will be minimized. Inefficient workers, shirkers and grouchers will be a little more secure at the expense of the real workers whose earning power is reduced by the deadening tendency toward an average.

A Small Concession

THE plan of a block of southern states to establish regional professional schools for Negroes is evidence that the supreme court's attitude on segregation is having some effect. The South is not ending segregation; it is merely moving to alleviate some of its worst aspects by providing facilities hitherto unavailable to Negroes.

Whether the regional school plan will meet the supreme court's requirements is doubtful. It is by no means the final answer to the segregation problem, although immeasurably better than the one-student Negro law school which Oklahoma established over a recent weekend.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Some Pertinent Questions on Marshall Plan.

THE state department is having an extraordinary difficult time deciding its own Marshall plan figures. Either it suffers from differences within the department or it is in a state of confusion.

On Dec. 19, 1947, the senate foreign relations committee issued a statement from the department to the committee entitled "Outline of European Recovery Program." In that statement, on page 117, a table is given of proposed shipments from countries other than the United States in the Western Hemisphere totaling $3,345,000,000.

SOKOLSKY

On Feb. 7, however, the state department issued a new table showing only $2,490,000,000 of supplies from other Western hemisphere countries—or a reduction of $855,000,000.

Precisely what does this reduction mean? Does it mean that the United States is to absorb $855,000,000 in American irreplaceable natural resources? Does it mean that the total Marshall plan is to be reduced by about $1,000,000,000? Does it mean anything at all?

Again questions must be asked about such items as this one: the original proposal of Dec. 19 for the first 15 months included $156,000,000 of coffee and $30,000,000 of tobacco from other western hemisphere countries, and $260,000,000 of tobacco from the United States. This makes a total of $446,000,000 for tobacco and coffee. Now, men may differ on the nutritive value of tobacco and coffee, but does the American taxpayer have to provide them free—particularly coffee, which is not grown here at all?

The original proposal of Dec 19 called for $701,000,000 petroleum products from the United States or to be bought with American money somewhere. Recently the state department, under public pressure because of the American shortage, issued a statement that no petroleum products would be shipped from the United States. And there is not enough oil coming from other countries to supply this amount. There is an obvious shortage of petroleum products in the United States on account of which large areas of this country suffered grievously this winter. What is the meaning of the above figures and the paradox inherent in them?

Countries Included

Also, it is now disclosed that in apportioning the total $17,000,000,000 contributions are to be made to the following countries:

Denmark	$ 582,000,000
Portugal	150,000,000
Ireland	497,000,000
	$1,229,000,000

If the Marshall plan is proposed to alleviate starvation, Denmark, Portugal and Ireland are not starving. They are, in fact, doing very well in the matter of food. Denmark and Ireland are exporters of food. If the Marshall plan is proposed to stop the tide of Communism, Denmark, Portugal and Ireland are not in danger from Communism. If the Marshall plan is to repair war damage, Portugal and Ireland were not damaged by war. Both Portugal and Ireland were neutral in the war and neither was occupied by Germany.

Billion Dollar Sop

Apparently this $1,229,000,000 is a little bit extra, perhaps to make these nations feel good. If a sop is thrown to Portugal, why not Spain? Are they not the same kind of countries? Certainly, Brazil, which is tied by blood and history to Portugal, can aid the mother country without burdening the American taxpayer. At no stage of this discussion have Brazil and the Argentine—the only South American countries that can export much to Europe—indicated any willingness to do their share on their own. Why should we pour some $3,000,000,000 into those countries which have not asked our aid and do not need it? (This figure includes Canada, which is another matter.) Yet, under the plan that is precisely what we would be doing. Most of the South American states have grown richer during the war.

And finally, why should the United States pour any of this money into Europe in terms of irreplacable commodities while the German factories are shut down and the German worker is idle, living on American charity, paid by the American taxpayer. Herbert Hoover proposed that the German be put to work and the land on the American reduced, but the state department continues the crazy Morgenthau policy of dismantling German industry and robbing the American taxpayer to do it.

If the Marshall plan involves a European defense against Russia, as Bernard Baruch proposed, how can that defense be strengthened by continuing the dismantling of German industry?

These questions should be asked by congress.

Preachers Are Called but Lawyers Are Sent

Under a recent decree, the Polish minister of justice has the power to send lawyers wherever he sees fit.

The idea is to resettle attorneys in localities "at present lacking legal talent." If Poland is anything like the U. S., that could include towns with any number of lawyers.

At any rate, Poland bids fair to become a nation of shifting shysters and portable Portias, as more and more law-firms tack their shingles on to trailers.

Of course, if they're going to be practical, the Polish will send, not one, but two lawyers to every community. Like grapevines, in pairs they flourish . . . but singly they starve to death.

Incidentally, people have been telling lawyers where to go in this country, too. But few of them do it.

Not immediately, at any rate

Rights of the South

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON — The white supremacy southerners in congress now are talking among themselves about placing either Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, or Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia in nomination for the presidency against Harry S. Truman. This underground discussion neatly balances the overt plan of the west coast left-wingers to put forward Henry A. Wallace as a suitable Democratic nominee.

One thing is already clear. This year's Democratic convention is likely to resemble one of those awful children's parties, at which large numbers of the dear little guests gang up to kick the stuffings out of the brave but tearful host. In his role as universal nursery maid to his party, the chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Senator J. Howard McGrath, is going to have a pretty ghastly time preventing public mayhem. And this will be true, even though the southerners do not carry out their threat to support a candidate of their own.

Overt southern support for a rival to Truman, even if limited to the convention, would almost certainly be going further than the southerners desire. The Democrats have been in so long, that the southern leaders have almost forgotten the hungry misery of dwellers in the political wilderness. But some faint recollection of this horrid state still lingers in their minds. They are still reluctant to destroy their party's chance at the election. This is what may be expected to nip the overt anti-Truman movement in the bud, although the plant may be expected to be watered with quantities of the same sort of northern money that was used to finance Gene Talmadge.

On the other hand, the strategy which the southerners appear actually to be adopting will be almost as difficult for the White House to handle. As of today, it seems probable that the southern states, including as a minimum South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and Tennessee, will send uncommitted delegations to Philadelphia. The uncommitted delegations will be used to wrest from the platform committee a weasel declaration on the civil and human rights issue.

Anxious Negotiations

In the past few days, there have been anxious negotiations between southern leaders and White House representatives. The southerners dropped hints that if the White House continued so scornful of the south, the more violent expedient of sending overt anti-Truman delegations to the convention would have to be restored to.

The President may deny the intention of conciliation until he is black in the face. He may personally have no such intention. But his representatives respond to the hints of the southern leaders, by hinting in return that the President would in the end approve a compromise on the platform's civil and human rights plank. The southerners intimated that if such a compromise were forthcoming, they would then content themselves with holding a post-convention rally, as they did after the Wallace nomination in 1940. At this rally, they promised they would give free rein to their propensity for oratory, but would end by resolving that much as they detested Truman, they hated the Republicans even more.

Plan Finds Favor

In congress, this plan has found favor with many, even among the extreme white supremacy shouters like Senator Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina. Meanwhile, some southern governors, like J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and M. E. Thompson of Georgia, also have sent assurances of eventual support to the White House.

It is symptomatic of the state of the Democratic party that in these dubious circumstances, the White House political strategists are breathing audible sighs of relief. They are thankful for very little, these days. The arrangements outlined above are very little to be thankful for, because of two obvious drawbacks.

In the first place, any weasel words in the civil and human right platform plank will enrage and alienate precisely the groups in the north at whom the President's civil rights message was are not spoken, the uncommitted aimed. Yet if the weasel words are not spoken, the uncommitted southern delegates will still be able to put forward their own man. In the second place, the present arrangements may be upset even before convention time, if the fair employment practices act becomes law at last.

Opinions Draw Fire

By Frank Tripp

UNCENSORED opinion is delivered in greater, freer measure by the printed word than by any other means of mass communication. One important product of the types is editorial expression.

The medium that reaches the masses is the newspaper. More than 50 million newspapers are brought every day in the United States. In the 1944 presidential election 48 million votes were cast. There are about 35 million families in the country. So the newspaper truly takes the printed word to all literate people—and with it free expression of opinion.

TRIPP

The only other means of communication which approaches mass coverage is restrained by government in expression of editorial opinion. Newspapers and radio each have their place in modern society. One is free to express opinion; the other is not. One the citizen buys, the other he gets free.

This article will endeavor to emphasize why it is the newspaper almost always takes the brunt of criticism of the press; is the one to get the smear, the lashing and the venom of unreasonable and sometimes vicious critics. Largely it is because newspapers have opinions and express them.

The newspaper is only a part of the press. The last learned group to appraise mass communications included radio and movies as part of the press. The newspaper does not accept this inclusion. Only mediums which are free to speak are parts of the press in a free country. To most people the press means just the newspapers.

People who have no opinions or those who have them but do not or cannot express them, seldom get much criticism. They arouse no ire because of what they say.

We can enjoy, even admire such a one, if he has other talents to offer, but when a time comes to make an important decision we rarely go to him. Instead we seek those who have ideas and opinions—and if we are wise we do not avoid those with whom we disagree.

Any newspaper could make of itself an affable, inoffensive, entertaining thing whose every word would be studied to escape the controversial. Some people are like that.

Such a spineless newspaper is within the realm of its editor's choice but few choose that course, because it ignores a vital role of a free press in our democracy. It relinquishes the most important function of press freedom, which is to speak freely.

So newspapers do have opinions and express them. In that respect they differ from means of communication which do not use the printed word. Among all mediums, the newspaper is the only one—which is free to speak—that reaches the masses.

Freedom to speak is bound to arouse disagreement. Likewise it is sure to arouse the wrath of those who would have everybody agree with them.

An important thing about the newspaper's place in this picture is that it must be sustained by those who read it; can have no revenue without readers, cannot survive without them. It isn't reasonable to believe that all who read certain newspapers agree with them; still they help keep them alive.

The fact that the people sustain newspapers with which they do not always agree, and in the form that high-brow critics perennially decry, should be answer enough to those who would overhaul newspapers; mostly to influence their content and thinking.

When the people want their newspapers changed the newspaper will be the first to know it and will be well on its way to meet the needs and desires of the people, long before theorists have discovered that the newspapers really are made by the people who read them.

The people create their own type of press by support of it. In the process of elimination, they even have preserved papers with which they violently disagree, and have killed, by nonsupport, those that thought with them. To change the American newspaper would be to change the habits and thinking of the American people.

Apparently they like opinions with which to agree or with which to quarrel. Whatever their likes, a free press can only endure at the pleasure of those who read it. It is the masses who sustain the newspapers—not the intelligentsia; not the advertisers.

Such would be a kept press; not a free one.

Plain Talk

The Paris newspaper Epoque resorts to some plain talk under the headline: "France Has Become a Nation of 40 Million Cheats." Its editorial says in part:

"The shame of Munich in 1938 started the national aberration, then came the war which further deranged the citizens. The German occupation provoked a monstrous cortege of scandals, treasons, and crimes with the outrageous but profitable collaboration of industry. Then the black market contaminated all the social classes and with that illegal traffic was born the spirit of fraud."

The Once Over

Letters for Special Delivery

DEAR GEORGE SOKOLSKY:

I keep reading over and over again a column of yours in which you rank the pictures of every sentence in your contention that movie stars glorified into national models for the young through the better pictures should not be like alley cats in their private and well publicized lives. You emphasize that the kids see glamorous actress in a noble and somewhat saintly role on the screen and the next we read of her unsmirking self fighting husband bounding around with another woman's husband and otherwise behaving like the belle of the Apache ball.

You express amazement that such things continue. Don't you know, George, that such goings on are accepted as routine stuff in Hollywood now and that it takes a wonderful memory to recall the days when picture stars who outrageously offended public morals were taken by the neck and flung right out of the business. That was before the cinema grew up. Now it has become of age and an actor or actress who has become an idol of the public can stoop to anything short of murder and suffer nothing worse than an increased salary for the publicity.

PHILLIPS

There are Hollywood actors who have been in scandals that would drive them out of any other business, but who have gone onward and upward with the cinema arts, and, as Bob Hope has, name six who haven't had a couple of divorces.

* * *

The plain fact is that movie performers now have greater influence over the young and old in many a home than the school teacher or the preacherman, yet what would become of the old school ma'am who taught the kiddies the right thing one day and was all over the front page the next for shedding husband Number 5 and grabbing Mate Number 6?

* * *

Where would a preacher land if, following his Sunday sermons on the eternal truths, he became involved in a nightclub brawl, named in a couple of divorce actions and arrested for drunken driving?

* * *

The kids are patterning after the movie stars and the stars should be required to set decent examples just as teachers, clergymen and mom and pop are. What can a kid think when he sees an actress portraying a fine woman Tuesday and behaving like a tramp on Wednesday.

* * *

It is up to the industry, George. Instead of paying a high salary to Eric Johnston to run around the country making lofty speeches about the faultless conditions in movies, it might better issue an ultimatum to the boys and girls who think they owe nothing to the public, and bounce them right out of the big money if they don't change their ways.

* * *

The situation is worrying fathers and mothers all over America. What a break it would be if the producers started worrying. Or even Eric Johnston.

Yours,

ELMER

Best laugh on the last Allen program was Titus Moody's jibe at medical specialists: "I had a pain in my feet. Had to get ten specialists, one for each toe; found the trouble was all in one toe; nine doctors gave me their bills and left; the other feller stayed and treated me." The top irony of the year: Bill Mauldin's cartoon line, "Drink up all the rest of your Bourbon highball; we shouldn't waste grain with so many people starving."

Boris Karloff, for years the portrayer of horror roles, is cast in a new Priestly play as a college professor who is all sweetness and light and at the tryouts he is being tortured by the realization that many in the audience are expecting him to throttle somebody any moment. . . At New Haven in a scene where the kindly professor approaches a sofa to smile on his lovely daughter, a young woman in the third row gasped "Look out! He's behind you." Boris is having the same trouble Johnny Weissmuller would have portraying Little Lord Fauntleroy.

By TRUMAN TWILL

A pair of medical researchers at University of California say they know what causes ordinary backache. It's because people stand up too much.

When medical researchers begin to figure out stuff like this they're getting somewhere. Any lazy person could have told them the same thing, but they deserve credit for finding it out the hard way.

They have measured the effect of standing and moving about and are staggered at the pressure on the cartilage and ligaments that keep the human back from falling apart. It is this same staggering realization that causes many characters the world over to stand up and move about as little as possible.

The cartilage and ligaments that get tired and thump with pain when the spine is perpendicular get their best break when the spine is horizontal say the researchers—and this was discovered long before their time too. It's the reason people insist on staying in bed late in the mornings.

Other body-saving measures eventually will be made authoritative by medical research. Thus, the reason the feet hurt is because they are stood upon. Therefore, the thing to do with feet is to get them up on the edge of a chair where there will be no weight on them.

The reason eyes get tired is because they are used to look at things, therefore the thing to do with eyes is close them as much as possible. In fact, what the medical researchers had better do if they want to keep human bodies functioning is to make a study of laziness.

They should organize expeditions to study laziness where it has become a science—on the sundrenched beaches of winter vacation spots, in the overstuffed chairs of lounging rooms in remote hill-billy areas, in permanent army camps during peacetime, in the villages of Mexico, the islands of the South Seas and among the aborigines.

Researches among these people they'd learn are unknown. They toil not, they spin not, they come not. They take care of themselves, within the limitations of their knowledge, which is sufficient to wise them up to the fact that work is just a pain in the neck.

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATION

CHRIST in You, THE HOPE of Glory

OUR HOPE IS IN CHRIST

Romans 7:18. "I know nothing good dwells in me, that is, in my flesh. I can will what is right, but I cannot do it."

MOST people want to do right. Few want to be mean or selfish. Well, then why isn't this a better world? All can honestly admit with Paul, "I see in my members another law at war with the law of my mind and making me captive to the law of sin which dwells in my members." Romans 8:23.

There is limited good in everyone but so limited, so local and provincial that the good is often evil spoken of. Our motives for doing good are not as pure as they must be for the good to be lasting.

Only in Christ, do we find the Saviour, the Purifier, the Hope for our world. "Earthly powers doth show likest God's, when seasoned by His love." We find life when we make a favorable response to His love. Our hope is in Christ. His perfect love must inspire us to greater and nobler love. Thanks be to God who causes us to triumph (to love) in Him.

GALION, Feb. 14—An early morning blaze Friday confined to the basement of the home of Clyde Wise of 626 Harding Way West, resulted in heavy smoke damage. It is believed an exploding furnace sent a shower of sparks over a stack of kindling and started the fire when firemen answered the call at 1:30 a. m., Friday.

The floor of the first story was burned through in several places. The fire was discovered when the family was routed from their beds by the smoke.

CHURCH TRAINING SESSION PLANNED

United Lutheran Director Will Attend Meeting.

Rev. Royal E. Lesher, director of the Evangelism Board of Social Missions of the United Lutheran Church in America, will be in Marion Monday night for a special meeting of St. Paul English Lutheran church. This will be a training session for church workers in visitation evangelism.

A series of such meetings has been arranged for the parishes of the Ohio synod of the church, and in other synods as well, during the year. The purpose of the meetings is to call on persons not connected with any congregation and "to win them for Christ and His church." Included among those who plan to call on such prospects here are Mrs. Daisy Craner, Mrs. Edwin Hoffman, Mrs. Paul Knauss, Mrs. Charles Lindsey, Mrs. Gayle McClure, Mrs. Joe Spano, Mrs. Walter Wheeler, Mrs. James Willoughby and Dr. Henry Schneffer. Rev. Lesher's qualifications for such work as he will conduct here rest on a background of varied service to his church. He has held pastorates in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois, has served as president of the Chicago United Lutheran Church Ministerial association, president of the Northside Council of Weekday Church School there, chairman of the Illinois synod committee of Lutheran students in non-Lutheran institutions, member of board of directors of Nachusa Orphans home, board of directors of Church Progress institute, and chairman of the Chicago Conference Evangelistic committee.

The Forgotten Commission

A Sermonette

By DR. C. E. HERSHEY

Pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church.

"Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature."

—Mark 16:15

JESUS CHRIST gave to His followers that Great Commission. This is a blessed privilege, given every believer, yet accepted by few. How sad that this has become to a large extent the Forgotten Commission. Let us be thankful that He has considered us worthy enough to be entrusted with this great task. Winning souls brings more happiness than any other effort. If you doubt this, stop and consider. Have you ever won a soul?

The Lord Jesus Christ spoke: "Either what woman having ten pieces of silver, if she lose one piece, doth not light a candle, and sweep the house, and seek diligently till she find it? And when she hath found it, she calleth her friends and her neighbors together, saying, Rejoice with me; for I have found the piece which I had lost. Likewise, I say unto you, there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth." Luke 15:8-10.

The woman mentioned here is the church of Jesus Christ. The coin represents the sinner who is lost and must be found by the woman. Evidently the coin is lost in a dark place, else the woman would have no need of a lighted candle. Scripture frequently refers to the sinner's condition as darkness and blindness. The sinner must be brought to the light—the light of the glorious Gospel. Only the Word of God can dispel the darkness of sin. Therefore the candle represents the Word.

The coin is lost. It is hopelessly lost, for a coin cannot find itself. It has no life. It can never bring itself to the light. Just so is a sinner. He is lost—hopelessly, helplessly lost—as far as he, himself is concerned. He cannot bring himself to the Light. But there is One who can dispel the darkness of sin. He is the Light and through faith in that Light, the sinner can be saved. He came "to seek and to save that which was lost." The coin was lost in the dirt and the dust of the house, else the woman would not have needed to use a broom!

Many souls today are lost because the Church has forgotten her commission. Sinners remain in the darkness of sin, covered by the dust of indifference of believers. The candle is not kept burning that souls, hearing the Word, may be saved. Today the Church is busy with everything but preaching the Gospel — the forgotten commission. She has entered politics; she has attempted social reform; she has gone into the restaurant business; she has attempted to offer entertainment by putting on plays, dinners, bazaars, and by organizing ball teams and clubs of various kinds. And while the church is thus busy, souls are dying in despair. It is imperative that the church get out the broom and light the candle and begin to find lost coins. Saving souls is the business of the church, and she should be engaged in that and that only.

"A Stitch in Time" Good House Repair Slogan.

The old proverb that a "stitch in time saves nine" applies directly to every part of a house. If any single unit of roof, wall, floor or ceiling becomes loose, it will affect the adjacent units or members, and they in turn will work rapidly into bad shape.

As a concrete example, take a broken sash-cord. Unless it is replaced at once a double strain is placed on the remaining cord and the entire window assembly is thrown out of proper balance and operation. When one hinge on a door is loose, the door sags and puts a heavy stress on the remaining hinge which will shortly bend it out of shape. When one leg of a chair is weak and loose, the rungs will loosen, the other three legs will break out of their joints, and in short order the chair will be ready to collapse.

The illustration shown is typical of the manner in which a solid set of brick steps start to disintegrate. One brick will break away from the bed of mortar in which it is bedded; probably because a heavy object such as a trunk or packing case has been dropped on it. Promptly the bricks on both sides loose the support of the first unit and will break out of their own beds at the first heavy impact or because of frost getting under them. If the first unit to go is promptly put back in proper shape and position, there will be no progressive deterioration of the whole.

In order to keep a house in good shape, it is imperative to be alert. At the first sight of a break of any kind the owner should take measures to repair it. If he does not, he will eventually be confronted with a real repair job or a large bill. All of us are aware of the fact that a vacant house deteriorates with astonishing rapidity, and it is simply because the first broken window-pane or the first leak in the roof is not repaired.

Open seams in wallpaper, a loose floor-board or a spot on the ceiling, are plain warnings. They can develop into just as serious a condition as is indicated by one loose brick in a set of steps; but intelligent and prompt attention will confine them to the unimportant affairs which they are at the beginning.

Luminous Paint Now Put To Many Uses

Luminous paints are no longer in the realm of novelty, but are now being put into practical home use.

They are of real advantage in a room where movies are shown. When watching a film, the room must be dark, but with luminous paint, door knobs and light switches can be painted so that they glow in the dark. Edges of basement steps become less hazardous at night when painted with luminous guide lines.

Surfaces treated with this type of paint appear to be one solid color in the daylight. The luminous part shows up only at night.

INSULATION SAVES FUEL

The University of Illinois has found that full-thick insulation in walls and roof area of an average two-story house will save 32 per cent of the annual fuel bill.

WINDOW HEAT LOSS

Weather-stripping and storm sash on all windows and doors will prevent the escape of 18 per cent of the heat from an average home, according to the University of Illinois.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Rusty Chromium Chairs

Q.: I have a breakfast set with chromium legs that are starting to get rusty and dark looking. How can I restore them? The table and chairs are like new, and I don't know why the chromium should do this.

A.: Have you considered having the set replated? A plating shop in your neighborhood should be able to do this for you. If you cannot budget for this work, you can take off the rust with a rust-softening preparation, or by rubbing with a scratchless scouring powder, mixed with kerosene. Wipe with turpentine, and then apply a coat of lacquer or varnish. Have plenty of ventilation and do not work in the kitchen. If you prefer to paint the set, begin by rubbing with sandpaper to roughen the metal a little, wipe with turpentine and follow with enamel undercoater and a finish coat of enamel, or else apply aluminum paint. All rust should first be removed. If the chairs are tubular and are rusty underneath, get a cabinet maker or good carpenter to attach a strip of maplewood under each tube, to take the wear and protect the floor.

Wallboard Warped

Q.: In repairing a room, we had a hard fibre wallboard used on the walls. When applying the board on the ceiling, the men did not fit the edges tightly enough, so it is inclined to give with changes in the weather. We used a wide glued tape before papering, which makes a ridge over the cracks. What can you suggest?

A.: If wallpaper was to be used, a gypsum wallboard (Plasterboard) would have been more practical. About the only thing I can suggest for the surface you now have is to cover the joints with a stainless steel or wood moulding.

Cork-Type Linoleum

Q.: My new inlaid kitchen linoleum gets very dirty in one day, and the only thing that will clean it is steel wool and one of the new style cleaning preparations. Would you please suggest a finish that will not discolor the linoleum too much? The linoleum seems to be like cork, and it absorbs all the dirt.

A.: My own preference for that type of linoleum is an application of a non-rubbing or else a paste wax, applied according to directions on container.

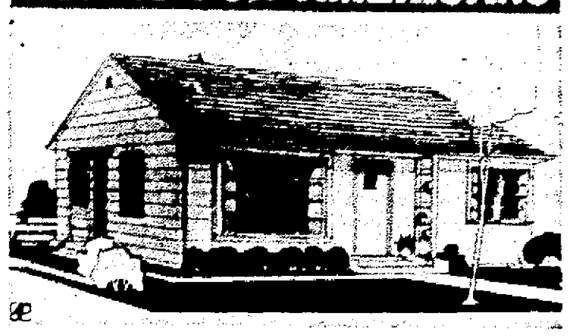
HOME NEEDS AIRING

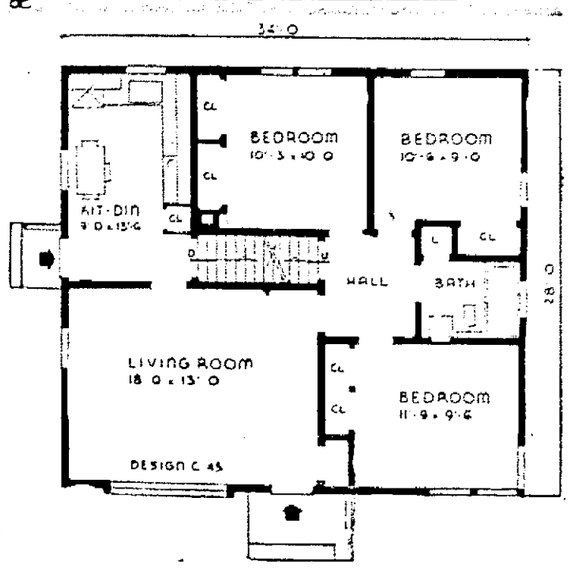
It is hard to heat dead air. Therefore, the home should be opened at mid-day and thoroughly aired. When doing this, turn down the thermostat so the heating plant will not operated while the house is open.

INSULATE FLOORS

Architects recommend that floors above unheated or unexcavated space be insulated full-thick, since nearly 9 per cent of the heat lost in the average home passes through cold floors.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS





By The Associated Press

Compactly designed for an average city lot, this Plan C-45 by the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn., has been worked out to meet problems of current building costs. The rectangular floor plan involves no expensive projections and low roof lines and simple framing make the house economical to build. The area is 952 square feet and content totals 18,564 cubic feet with full basement. Stairs lead to an attic for storage.

SMALL HOUSE CAN BE EXPANDED LATER

Don't compromise too much now on the things you want, because costs are high is the advice given by construction experts. Plan for them, then do them later. Or do with less house today and get good things in it, add more house later.

For example, you want an outdoor living room, plan your garage and house in such a way that you can add a breezeway porch between later.

Make your house plan expandable. If one bedroom is enough now, it's better to put off building the second and third than to save money on such important things as the heating unit, wall insulation, cabinets, sanitary ware, kitchen equipment, etc. Once these things are in they are very costly to replace. Some people even go so far as to make the living room double for a bedroom with a studio couch, or with folding doors various sections of any large room can be closed off to serve the purpose of two or even three rooms, etc., temporarily.

Remember additions can be financed over periods from 18 months to five years depending upon the size of the loan. When your income goes up you can afford the extra monthly payments. But what you build, build well even if it only three or four rooms, and be sure that your basic plan is one that can be expanded without disturbing the original house.

EAST SIDE AROUSED BY DOG POISONINGS

Reward Offered for Arrest; 4 Animals Die.

Irate residents of Marion's east side have posted a reward of $25 for evidence leading to the apprehension and arrest of the person or persons guilty of poisoning five dogs in the neighborhood of Kensington Place and Spencer and East Church streets. Four of the dogs died, one survived.

County Dog Warden W. M. Warner announced today a full scale investigation is in progress. Autopsies performed by veterinarians on the four canine poison victims revealed strychnine mixed with fried potatoes and gravy were employed to lure and kill the dogs.

The strychnine used was not purchased in Marion, Warner stated, after completing a check of local drug stores. He warns residents of the areas in which animals have been poisoned to keep small children under close watch so that they may not pick up loose bits of food which may be poisoned. Persons having any information which might lead to arrest and conviction of the poisoner or poisoners are urged by the warden to call the County Humane society immediately. More rewards are expected to be announced shortly by humane and sportsmen's groups, the warden added.

It is possible to determine when a protein deficiency exists by finding out how much protein is present in the fluid part of the blood. Usually, several tests should be made.

The best and quickest way to correct protein deficiency in an emergency is by means of an injection of whole blood into a vein. The amount of blood needed varies with the severity of the condition.

If the patient is able to take food successfully by mouth, it is suggested that he be given at least 100 grams of protein per day, or about 3 1/3 ounces. In some cases, if the patient cannot take solid foods, a mixture of whole milk plus milk protein, or the solid part of milk, may be used.

Now and then, following operation, a patient must be fed through a tube which has been passed from the mouth into the stomach. A liquid mixture such as the above, may be employed. What is known as protein hydrolysate may be used. This is made by breaking down proteins into the amino acids of which they are composed. It is also possible to give hydrolyzed protein by injection mixed with a glucose solution. Such a mixture will provide not only proteins but also carbohydrates and some salt.

Vitamins also may be given by injection so that even when the patient cannot take any food by mouth, it is possible to keep up his nutrition satisfactorily by using the above-described methods.

TIFFIN GETS FUEL OIL

By The Associated Press

TIFFIN, O., Feb. 14—The fuel oil shortage had eased here today, Mayor Virgil Bennefhoff obtained 8,000 gallons from Cincinnati, 3,000 gallons from Clyde and 3,000 from Findlay yesterday and said he would ration it. Scores of homes have been heatless because of exhausted oil supplies.

PERSONAL TAX TIME IS HERE

Filing of Returns Scheduled To Start Monday at County Auditor's Office.

Filing of taxable personal property returns is scheduled to start Monday at the office of Harry V. Mounts, county auditor. Forms for returns have been issued to approximately 3,500 Marion county taxpayers.

Filing will continue for a six-week period ending March 31. After that time the legal penalty of 10 per cent is applied by the state tax commission.

The auditor urges that returns be filed as early as possible to avoid a last minute rush.

All properties used in business and agriculture as well as agricultural products on farms, are taxable items and are to be listed at their true value as of Jan. 1, 1948.

Likewise, all intangible property such as productive and unproductive investments, royalties from patents and copyrights, annuities, postal savings bank deposits outside the state of Ohio, notes, accounts receivable and monies in lockboxes, are taxable. Deposits outside the state of Ohio are required to be listed as of Nov. 12, 1947.

The county auditor emphasized that any person who becomes a taxpayer between Jan. 1 and July 1, 1948 must list his property as of the day he acquired ownership, and a person engaging in business between Jan. 1 and July 1, 1948, should list his probable average amount of inventory intended to be used in business for the entire calendar year.

In the past a number of persons acquiring property or entering business after the Jan. 1 listing day have not filed because of a misunderstanding of requirements as to when a new taxpayer should file, Mr. Mounts said.

Marion county personal tax total for 1947 was approximately $165,000 with $130,000 derived from the general tax list and $35,000 from the classified tax list. The 1948 total, if the trend of the last few years continues, will show an increase over that total, it was predicted.

CLOSING TELEGRAPH OFFICES IS GIVEN OK

Mt. Gilead and Marysville Affected by Order.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—The communications commission yesterday tentatively authorized Western Union Telegraph Co. to turn over handling of telegrams in six Ohio cities to local telephone companies.

In a proposed decision which permits 20 days for appeal, the commission upheld Western Union's plea that business involved does not warrant maintenance of regular telegraph offices.

The cities are Bellefontaine, Delphos, Lebanon, Marysville, Mt. Gilead and Ottawa.

Western Union plans to shut down its offices and let phone companies handle telegraph traffic for 116 communities on teleprinter equipment.

The Commercial Telegraphers' union opposes the plan, contending it is a "merger" of telephone and telegraph operations.

He is Just Away

I cannot say, and I will not say,
That he is dead, he is just away.
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into another land.
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
And you, oh you, who the wildest yearn
For the old time step and the glad return,
Think of him still as the same, I say,
He is not dead, he is just away.

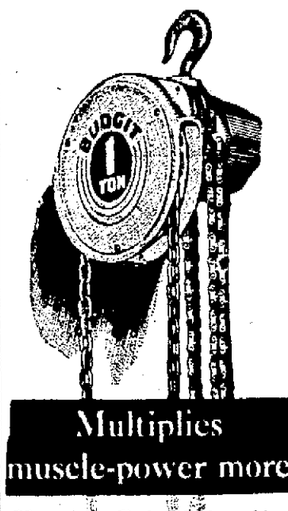
Schaffner's



Multiplies muscle-power more

THIS new Chain Block enables a man to lift more, easier and faster. That is the result of modern engineering design which refused to be bound by obsolete tradition.

Former manually-operated hoists had evolved with no radical advancement in fifty years. 'Budgit' Chain Block hoists represent a revolutionary improvement that leaps ahead of the crawling progress of the past. They are conceived in the knowledge of today's engineering and metals—built to make the uttermost of man's physical strength.

Size for size they weigh much less than other standard spur-geared blocks. The smallest weighs but 48 lbs. and the largest, with which a man may lift two tons, weighs only 81 lbs. Thus they set a new standard in portability and easy, fast lifting.

They hang in perfect balance with or without loads. The mechanism is completely enclosed and packed in grease so that the lubricant stays in and dirt and dust are kept out. Even the hand wheel is protected.

Their exceptionally light weight is obtained by the new modern design and the liberal use of alloy steels; easier operation by the use of anti-friction bearings throughout; smoother lifting by the use of a roller type load chain that does not stretch, stiffen or bind; perfect control of the load at all times by an improved automatic brake that prevents the load from descending except at the will of the operator.

Harding Cagers Go Down To Ashland; St. Mary Wallops Mt. Gilead

Prexies Take Early Lead but Slip In Mid-Game To Lose, 56-42, to A's

By BILL MURPHY

Harding's Presidents, host to the Ashland A's last night at Edison gym, tottered the Tudjor Tots 13 to 9 in the initial period, but slowed to a four-point pace in the second and third stanzas to go down, 56-42. They got hot again in the final frame when they hit for 21 markers, but couldn't catch up with the smoothest, ball handlingiest court machine to appear here this winter.

Paced by Merle Daum, who threatened to go berserk on basket-making in grabbing seven points the first quarter, the Prexies took full command as Jim Coss followed with a duo of two-pointers and Don Johnson added a deuce to give the Harding hoopsters a four-point edge.

Messner Paces A's

Dick Messner, high with 15 counters for the A's, then rallied the Ashland five and proceeded to demonstrate his ability as a courtman. Changing pace while dribbling and using clever, precision passing in getting the ball around the floor, he led the Ashland quint as they poured 34 markers through the cords in the second and third cantos while limiting Harding to eight, and only one field goal.

Going into the fourth frame on the short end of a 43-21 count, the Presidents doubled their score as they made the same number of points in the last eight minutes as they had made in the rest of the game—21. Dick Riddle, who had been tied down for three quarters, hit for six points, Dick Leffler added four, Dick Clark and Jim Rea each netted a fielder, Dick Sherman contributed three points, Dick Thomas another three, and Merle Daum, high with 11 counters, flipped a gift shot to account for the 21 points.

The Harding cagers, still seeking their sixth win, will entertain Bucyrus at Edison Tuesday, while Ashland, looking for their fifteenth victory will travel to Culver, Ind., tonight to engage the quintet at Culver Military Academy.

Reserves Take Eleventh

The Harding Vice Presidents, more than equaled scores in the preliminary contest last night, as they walloped the little A's 52-29 in their half of the split. Roger Andrews was high for the second stringers with 11 tallies, as they made quarter scores of 10, 10, 16 and 16, while Ashland was getting 7, 5, 6 and 11.

Adding a bit of the Bill Veeck touch to the half-time intermission were a dozen or so Harding tumblers complete with a clown, who performed a full act of difficult tumbling flips.

CINCY BEARCATS UPSET DUQUESNE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 14—Illinois had the "Whiz Kids," Utah the "Blitz Kids" and now Ohio has the "Upset Kids" — Cincinnati's Bearcats.

Cincy's season-long record of 11 wins in 17 games is little better than average, but when it comes to knocking off front-running quintets, the Bearcats are champs.

They did it again last night, dumping mighty Duquesne in Cincinnati, 55-41. It was the Duke's second loss in 17 games and "enabled" them to move alongside such other prominent Cincinnati upset victims as Butler and Utah.

While Cincy was manufacturing one of the season's biggest form reversals, the state's two pace-setting teams—in standings up to last night—were going down.

Xavier's drive for national recognition was slowed at Louisville, 58-47, and Lincoln university of Missouri clipped Wilberforce State, 56-52. Those defeats paved the way for Toledo to take over the top rung in overall Ohio standings.

Louisville stretched its winning streak to eight by snapping Xavier's off at nine. Xavier trounced the Kentuckians last month at Cincinnati 62-35, but it was a different story last night.

Tonight's heavy firing features Illinois at Ohio State, Cincinnati at Butler, Loyola at Toledo and Bowling Green at Syracuse.

WALDO LEGION TEAMS TAKE DOUBLE BILL

Two teams of the Waldo American Legion staged a twin bill on the home court last night and came off with wins in both contests as they defeated a combination of AMVETS and Harding Independents 54-39, and the Marion G.I. Post team, 65-30 in the other fray.

More than doubling the score against G.I. Post, the Legion cagers hit 28 two-pointers and 9 fouls as Robert Smith connected for 30 points and Jim Ward hit for 24 to lead the winners.

The losers were paced by Morthland who hit the cords for 13 counters.

Close Tilts Mark County Cage Tournament's Opening Round

Three close games marked the opening round of the Marion county tournament played last night with two of the contests being decided at the foul line. At Morral, Claridon whipped Kirkpatrick 50 to 45 with each team counting 21 times from the field. Claridon tossed in eight of 17 attempts from the charity line while Kirk counted on only three of 11 tries. In the other game at Morral, Martel upset Green Camp 37 to 31.

In the two contests at New Bloomington, Meeker swamped Waldo 39 to 15 and New Bloomington eked out a 24 to 20 victory over Prospect by caging six shots from the Scotland line while Prospect hit on only two attempts with each team collecting nine field goals.

Top Teams Enter Tonight

The four top teams in the final season standings will enter the picture tonight with Caledonia clashing with Claridon at 7:30 and LaRue meeting Claridon an hour later on the New Bloomington floor. On the Morral hardwood Pleasant will tangle with Meeker in the first game and Morral will oppose New Bloomington in the second.

The game last night between Martel and Green Camp found the Campers grabbing an early lead as Coach Dale Porter of Martel tried a four-man defense with the fifth player left under the Martel basket as a sneaker. As the strategy failed to work Green Camp led 11 to 10 at the first stop, but more cautious play in the second stanza put Porter's lads ahead at the half 19 to 16. Green Camp was wild in passing and shooting in the second half and Martel increased the lead to 29 to 20 at the three-quarter mark. Smith of Green Camp led the point makers with 16. Rhinebolt was high for the winners as he racked up 14 points.

Nip and Tuck

The Claridon-Kirk clash was a nip and tuck affair all the way with the winners pulling away to a five-point advantage at the end. Kirk grabbed a first-quarter lead of 12 to 11, but Claridon came back for a 23 to 20 advantage at the intermission. The lead changed hands several times in the third and last stanzas as Richard Jones of Kirk and Dale Irey of the winners put on an individual scoring battle. The Claridon center ended with 25 points on 11 field goals and three charity tosses, while the blond bomber from Kirk flipped in 12 field goals for a total of 24 points. Both these lads are among the county's best basket shooters. Claridon finally stopped Jones in the last quarter by guarding him with two men.

New Bloomington Wins

Johnson and Glenn with eight points each led Coach Alexander's New Bloomington to a 24 to 20 win over Prospect, but Knoop was the only Prospecter able to hit the hoop with consistency and he led the game in scoring with 10 points for half the loser's total. It was only the second win of the year for both Martel and New Bloomington.

The tall Meker crew clamped a lid on the Waldo basket and allowed the down county team only six field goals with Kaelber getting three of these. Yost, elongated center for Meeker, counted 11 points to lead the winners.

Bud Staley of Piqua, an Ohio-Indiana league umpire and Coder of Marysville did the officiating at Morral while Robert Harman and Carl Hopkins handled the whistles at New Bloomington.

ASK TALENT DIVVY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 14 — The Baltimore Colts and Chicago Rockets united today to demand that other All-America Football Conference clubs "divvy up" playing talent to reinforce the two weak members of the 1948 campaign. There were prospects as A. A. C. representatives opened their annual winter meeting that both Baltimore and Chicago, which won only three games between them last fall, would be materially strengthened by shifts of player personnel controlled by the stronger outfits.

Irish Set New Scoring Record By Taking Indians, 73-39, in Loop Game

Marion St. Mary remained very much in the Mid-State league title race last night by pulverizing the Mt. Gilead Indians, 73-39, on the Morrow countians' court.

This score set a new high in Irish tallying this season and possibly a school record. It took substitute guard Joe Maniaci to break the record of 68 points set in the contest with St. Mary of Columbus. Joe later added two foul shots to place his total at four points for three minutes play.

Captain Dick Schuler paced the Irish in their bombardment with 28 markers. John Baldauf followed with 20. Dick Drake had eight, Dan Smith, seven. Joe Maniaci four and Bill Merchant three. Guard Bob Stuber brought up the rear with a lone charity toss.

Captain Jack Lancaster and Don Gallaher each sunk nine points for Mt. Gilead.

Indians Open Strong

It looked as if the Indians were going to give the Irish a run in the first period as St. Mary was never able to pull more than two points ahead of Mt. Gilead. St. Mary broke the ice on a long shot by John Baldauf and never once fell behind. The quarter ended with the Marion team leading Mt. Gilead 14-12.

St. Mary started their scoring spree in the second frame which netted them 12 points. The Indians were unable to hit for the first 4½ minutes and then only swished six tallies. The half ended, 32-18, in favor of the Irish.

Shot the Works

St. Mary shot the works in the third stanza, pushing through 22 markers. Dick Schuler showed the way with six. Lancaster and Gallaher chalked up seven points for the Indians, placing the score at 54-25, going into the final period.

Mt. Gilead enjoyed their best scoring quarter in the last quarter, piling up 14 points, but the Irish topped them with 19. Coach Gene Fetter sent in his second-stringers after the official time out. With the score at 68-31, Joe Maniaci sent in a field goal that broke the previous scoring record.

The game ended with the Fettermen avenging last year's defeat on Mt. Gilead's floor.

The St. Mary Reserves made the night complete by defeating the Mt. Gilead Jay Vees, 43-31. Bill Merchant led the Junior Irish with 12 points trailed by Bill Moloney with 10. McClelland led the Indian Reserves with 17 markers.
